22 (“CPAP”) machines such as ResMed’s AirSense 10 Series, including, without 23 limitation, ResMed AirSense 10 AutoSet, Airsense 10 AutoSet for Her, 24 AirSense 10 CPAP, and AirSense 10 Elite (collectively, “S10 CPAP”).

25 20. Upon further information and belief, ResMed has made, used, 26 offered to sell, and/or sold within the United States, and/or has imported into the 27 United States, products including at least the AirCurve 10 ASV, AirCurve 10 S, 28 AirCurve 10 VAuto, and AirCurve 10 ST (collectively, “AirCurve 10”).

1 21. Upon further information and belief, ResMed has made, used,
2 offered to sell, and/or sold within the United States, and/or has imported into the 3 United States, ClimateLineAir heated air tubing for use with at least the S10 4 CPAP products.

5 22. Upon further information and belief, ResMed has made, used,
6 offered to sell, and/or sold within the United States, and/or has imported into the 7 United States, nasal pillow masks, including the Swift FX and the Swift LT 8 masks.

9 V. CLAIMS FOR PATENT INFRINGEMENT

10 FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

11 (Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,443,807)

12 23. Fisher & Paykel Healthcare realleges and reincorporates the 13 allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 22.

14 24. Upon information and belief, ResMed products, including at least 15 the Swift FX products, infringe at least Claims 1, 2, 4, 6, 8, 17, 20, and 21 of the 16 '807 patent under at least 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), (b), and (c).

17 25. Upon information and belief, ResMed has directly infringed one or 18 more claims of the '807 patent through manufacture use, sale, offer for sale, 19 and/or importation into the United States of masks, including the Swift FX 20 masks.

21 26. For example, upon information and belief, the Swift FX mask 22 includes all of the limitations of Claim 1 of the '807 patent. The Swift FX mask 23 is a patient interface that includes a mask assembly with a mask body sized and 24 shaped to leave the mouth of the user uncovered by the mask when in use. Two 25 nasal pillows extend from the mask body, and in use these nasal pillows rest in a 26 substantially sealed manner against the openings of the nasal cavity of the user.
27 There is a ring engaging the mask body, an elbow rotatably engaged with the 28 ring comprising a plurality of vent holes, a tube or conduit extending from the 1 elbow, and a headgear assembly having two side straps that pass down the 2 cheeks to secure the mask body to a face of a user. The headgear assembly also 3 includes a top strap with a buckle to facilitate length adjustment of the top strap 4 and a back strap adjustably connected to at least the top strap or the two side 5 straps. The two side straps are configured to connect and disconnect with the 6 mask assembly while the elbow remains rotatably engaged with the ring and the 7 ring remains engaged with the mask body. The mask assembly is configured to 8 connect to the two side straps, and the top strap connects only with one or more 9 of the side straps and the back strap.

10 27. ResMed is aware of the '807 patent, at least in part through written 11 communications from Fisher & Paykel Healthcare on or about February 27,
12 2015 notifying ResMed of its infringement of this patent.

13 28. Upon information and belief, ResMed has actively induced others 14 to infringe the '807 patent by marketing and selling the above masks, knowing 15 and intending that such masks would be used by customers and end users in a 16 manner that infringes the '807 patent. To that end, ResMed provides 17 instructions and teachings to its customers and end users that such masks be 18 used to infringe the '807 patent. ResMed's acts constitute infringement of the 19 '807 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(b).

20 29. Upon information and belief, ResMed actively induces health-care
21 service providers and users to directly infringe the asserted claims of the '807
22 patent. By way of example only, upon information and belief, ResMed actively 23 induces direct infringement of the '807 patent by providing directions,
24 demonstrations, guides, manuals, training for use, and/or other materials
25 necessary for the use, refurbishing, and/or servicing of the Swift FX masks.
26 Upon information and belief, ResMed knew or should have known that these 27 activities would cause direct infringement.

28 ///

1 30. Upon information and belief, ResMed's acts constitute contributory
2 infringement of the '807 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(c). Upon
3 information and belief, ResMed contributorily infringes because, among other
4 things, ResMed offers to sell and/or sells within the United States, and/or 5 imports into the United States, components of the Swift FX masks that 6 constitute material parts of the invention of the asserted claims of the '807 7 patent, are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for 8 substantial non-infringing use, and are known by ResMed to be especially made 9 or especially adapted for use in an infringement of the '807 patent.

10 31. Upon information and belief, ResMed's infringement of the '807
11 patent has been, and continues to be, willful, deliberate, and intentional by 12 continuing its acts of infringement after becoming aware of the '807 patent and 13 its infringement thereof, thus acting in reckless disregard of Fisher & Paykel
14 Healthcare's patent rights.

15 32. As a consequence of ResMed's infringement of the '807 patent, 16 Fisher & Paykel Healthcare has suffered and will continue to suffer irreparable 17 harm and injury, including monetary damages in an amount to be determined at 18 trial.

19 33. Upon information and belief, unless enjoined, ResMed, and/or 20 others acting on behalf of ResMed, will continue their infringing acts, thereby 21 causing additional irreparable injury to Fisher & Paykel Healthcare for which 22 there is no adequate remedy at law.

23 SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

24 (Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,479,741)

25 34. Fisher & Paykel Healthcare realleges and reincorporates the 26 allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 33.

27 ///

28 ///

1 35. Upon information and belief, ResMed products, including at least 2 the Swift LT masks, infringe at least Claims 1-3, 16, 17, 34, and 35 of the '741 3 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), (b), or (c).

4 36. Upon information and belief, ResMed has directly infringed one or 5 more claims of the '741 patent through manufacture use, sale, offer for sale, 6 and/or importation into the United States of the Swift LT masks.

7 37. For example, upon information and belief, the Swift LT mask
8 includes all of the limitations of Claim 1 of the '741 patent. The Swift LT mask 9 is a patient interface that includes a mask body comprising a substantially 10 flexible plastics material and having two nasal pillows angled toward one 11 another. Each of the nasal pillows has a generally conical portion, a generally 12 cylindrical portion, and an outlet opening. The mask body also includes an inlet 13 opening that is spaced apart from the outlet openings on the nasal pillows and 14 that is within a generally tubular portion of the mask body.

15 38. Upon information and belief, the Swift LT mask also includes a 16 mask base having a plastics material that is less flexible than the plastics 17 material of the mask body. The mask base has a housing with a through 18 passage, and a proximal portion of the through passage is surrounded by a 19 recess. The recess receives the generally tubular portion of the mask body that 20 defines the mask body inlet opening. Two side arms are removably connected 21 to the mask base, and each side arm is three-dimensionally molded and has a 22 varying cross-sectional thickness.

23 39. Upon information and belief, the Swift LT mask includes headgear 24 with two side straps of a composite foam material. Each side arm overlaps with 25 and is secured to one of the side straps, and the side strap extends only partially 26 along the side arm to which it is secured.

27 ///

28 ///

1 40. ResMed is aware of the '741 patent, at least in part through written
2 communications from Fisher & Paykel Healthcare on or about February 27,
3 2015 notifying ResMed of its infringement of this patent.

4 41. Upon information and belief, ResMed has actively induced others
5 to infringe the '741 patent. ResMed's acts constitute infringement of the 6 '741 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(b).

7 42. Upon information and belief, ResMed actively induces health-care
8 service providers and users to directly infringe the asserted claims of the '741
9 patent. By way of example only, upon information and belief, ResMed actively 10 induces direct infringement of the '741 patent by providing directions,
11 demonstrations, guides, manuals, training for use, and/or other materials 12 necessary for the use, refurbishing, and/or servicing of the Swift LT masks.
13 Upon information and belief, ResMed knew or should have known that these 14 activities would cause direct infringement.

15 43. Upon information and belief, ResMed's acts constitute contributory
16 infringement of the '741 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(c). Upon
17 information and belief, ResMed contributorily infringes because, among other 18 things, ResMed offers to sell and/or sells within the United States, and/or 19 imports into the United States, components of the Swift LT masks that 20 constitute material parts of the invention of the asserted claims of the '741 21 patent, are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for 22 substantial non-infringing use, and are known by ResMed to be especially made 23 or especially adapted for use in an infringement of the '741 patent.

24 44. Upon further information and belief, such components are used by 25 ResMed in connection with the refurbishing, servicing and/or use of infringing 26 Swift LT masks in the United States, thereby constituting direct infringement of 27 the asserted claims of the '741 patent.

28 ///

45. Upon information and belief, ResMed's infringement of the '741 patent has been, and continues to be, willful, deliberate, and intentional by continuing its acts of infringement after becoming aware of the '741 patent and its infringement thereof, thus acting in reckless disregard of Fisher & Paykel Healthcare's patent rights.

46. As a consequence of ResMed's infringement of the '741 patent, Fisher & Paykel Healthcare has suffered and will continue to suffer irreparable harm and injury, including monetary damages in an amount to be determined at trial.

47. Upon information and belief, unless enjoined, ResMed, and/or others acting on behalf of ResMed, will continue their infringing acts, thereby causing additional irreparable injury to Fisher & Paykel Healthcare for which there is no adequate remedy at law.

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,186,345)

48. Fisher & Paykel Healthcare realleges and reincorporates the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 47.

49. Upon information and belief, ResMed products, including at least the S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products, infringe at least Claims 1 and 3 of the '345 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), (b), or (c).

50. Upon information and belief, ResMed has directly infringed the asserted claims of the '345 patent through manufacture use, sale, offer for sale, and/or importation into the United States of the S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products.

51. For example, upon information and belief, the AirSense 10 with ClimateLine Air tubing includes all of the limitations of Claim 1 of the '345 patent. Upon information and belief, the AirSense 10 with Climate Line Air tubing is an apparatus for supplying gases to a patient. It includes a gases

1 supply and a tube with a heater wire for heating the conduit. The heater wire is 2 located around the outside of the tube. The circuitry of the ClimateLine Air 3 tube includes a thermistor, which has a characteristic impedance. The user 4 manual for the AirSense 10 indicates that this device has a controller for 5 controlling the heating of the heater wire. The controller can automatically 6 identify the conduit attached by using the resistance from the thermistor at room 7 temperature to determine the type of delivery conduit attached.

8 52. ResMed is aware of the '345 patent, at least in part through written 9 communications from Fisher & Paykel Healthcare on or about February 22,
10 2016 notifying ResMed of its infringement of this patent.

11 53. Upon information and belief, ResMed has actively induced others
12 to infringe the '345 patent. ResMed's acts constitute infringement of the 13 '345 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(b).

14 Upon information and belief, ResMed actively induces health-care
15 service providers and users to directly infringe the asserted claims of the '345
16 patent. By way of example only, upon information and belief, ResMed actively 17 induces direct infringement of the '345 patent by providing directions,
18 demonstrations, guides, manuals, training for use, and/or other materials
19 necessary for the use, refurbishing, and/or servicing of the S10 CPAP,
20 AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products.

21 54. Upon information and belief, ResMed knew or should have known
22 that these activities would cause direct infringement.

23 55. Upon information and belief, ResMed's acts constitute contributory
24 infringement of the '345 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(c). Upon
25 information and belief, ResMed contributorily infringes because, among other
26 things, ResMed offers to sell and/or sells within the United States, and/or 27 imports into the United States, components of the S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and 28 ClimateLineAir products that constitute material parts of the invention of the

1 asserted claims of the '345 patent, are not staple articles or commodities of 2 commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use, and are known by 3 ResMed to be especially made or especially adapted for use in an infringement
4 of the '345 patent.

5 56. Upon further information and belief, such components are used by 6 ResMed in connection with the refurbishing, servicing and/or use of infringing
7 S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products in the United States, 8 thereby constituting direct infringement of the asserted claims of the '345
9 patent.

10 57. Upon information and belief, ResMed's infringement of the '345
11 patent has been, and continues to be, willful, deliberate, and intentional by 12 continuing its acts of infringement after becoming aware of the '345 patent and 13 its infringement thereof, thus acting in reckless disregard of Fisher & Paykel
14 Healthcare's patent rights.

15 58. As a consequence of ResMed's patent infringement of the '345
16 patent, Fisher & Paykel Healthcare has suffered and will continue to suffer 17 irreparable harm and injury, including monetary damages in an amount to be 18 determined at trial.

19 59. Upon information and belief, unless enjoined, ResMed, and/or 20 others acting on behalf of ResMed, will continue their infringing acts, thereby
21 causing additional irreparable injury to Fisher & Paykel Healthcare for which 22 there is no adequate remedy at law.

23 FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

24 (Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,453,641)

25 60. Fisher & Paykel Healthcare realleges and reincorporates the 26 allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 59.

27 ///

28 ///

1 61. Upon information and belief, ResMed products, including at least
2 the S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products, infringe at least 3 Claims 1 5, and 6 of the '641 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), (b), or (c).

4 62. Upon information and belief, ResMed has directly infringed the 5 asserted claims of the '641 patent through manufacture use, sale, offer for sale, 6 and/or importation into the United States of the S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and 7 ClimateLineAir products.

8 63. For example, upon information and belief, the AirSense 10 with 9 ClimateLine Air tubing includes all of the limitations of Claim 1 of the '641 10 patent. The AirSense 10 is an apparatus for measuring the properties of gases 11 being supplied to a patient. It includes a gases supply and a tube that includes a 12 heater wire for heating the tube. The heater wire is located around the outside of 13 the tube. The tube has two ends, and the heater wire extends longitudinally 14 along the tube from the first end to the second end of the tube. The heater wire 15 forms part of the circuit of the AirSense 10 device and is measured by a 16 controller to determine properties of the gases, including temperature and/or 17 relative humidity. The electrical circuit has two portions, one that is located 18 near the first end of the tube and the other that is located near the second end of 19 the tube. The two portions of the electrical circuit are in electrical 20 communication with each other through a thermistor that is electrically 21 connected to the contacts at the gases supply end of the electrical circuit. The 22 change in current from the thermistor is used to determine temperature of the 23 gases as it varies.

24 64. ResMed is aware of the '641 patent, at least in part through written 25 communications from Fisher & Paykel Healthcare on or about February 22, 26 2016 notifying ResMed of its infringement of this patent.

27 ///

28 ///

1 65. Upon information and belief, ResMed has actively induced others
2 to infringe the '641 patent. ResMed's acts constitute infringement of the 3 '641 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(b).

4 66. Upon information and belief, ResMed actively induces health-care
5 service providers and users to directly infringe the asserted claims of the '641
6 patent. By way of example only, upon information and belief, ResMed actively 7 induces direct infringement of the '641 patent by providing directions,
8 demonstrations, guides, manuals, training for use, and/or other materials
9 necessary for the use, refurbishing, and/or servicing of the S10 CPAP,
10 AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products.

11 67. Upon information and belief, ResMed knew or should have known
12 that these activities would cause direct infringement.

13 68. Upon information and belief, ResMed's acts constitute contributory
14 infringement of the '641 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(c). Upon 15 information and belief, ResMed contributorily infringes because, among other
16 things, ResMed offers to sell and/or sells within the United States, and/or 17 imports into the United States, components of the S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and 18 ClimateLineAir products that constitute material parts of the invention of the 19 asserted claims of the '641 patent, are not staple articles or commodities of 20 commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use, and are known by 21 ResMed to be especially made or especially adapted for use in an infringement 22 of the '641 patent.

23 69. Upon further information and belief, such components are used by 24 ResMed in connection with the refurbishing, servicing and/or use of infringing
25 S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products in the United States,
26 thereby constituting direct infringement of the asserted claims of the '641 27 patent.

28 ///

1 70. Upon information and belief, ResMed's infringement of the '641
2 patent has been, and continues to be, willful, deliberate, and intentional by
3 continuing its acts of infringement after becoming aware of the '641 patent and
4 its infringement thereof, thus acting in reckless disregard of Fisher & Paykel
5 Healthcare's patent rights.

6 71. As a consequence of ResMed's patent infringement of the '641
7 patent, Fisher & Paykel Healthcare has suffered and will continue to suffer 8 irreparable harm and injury, including monetary damages in an amount to be 9 determined at trial.

10 72. Upon information and belief, unless enjoined, ResMed, and/or 11 others acting on behalf of ResMed, will continue their infringing acts, thereby
12 causing additional irreparable injury to Fisher & Paykel Healthcare for which 13 there is no adequate remedy at law.

14 FIFTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

15 (Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 9,265,902)

16 73. Fisher & Paykel Healthcare realleges and reincorporates the 17 allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 72.

18 74. Upon information and belief, ResMed products, including at least 19 the S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products, infringe at least 20 Claims 7, 11, and 12 of the '902 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), (b), or (c).

21 75. Upon information and belief, ResMed has directly infringed the 22 asserted claims of the '902 patent through manufacture use, sale, offer for sale, 23 and/or importation into the United States of the S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and 24 ClimateLineAir products.

25 76. For example, upon information and belief, the AirSense 10 with 26 ClimateLine Air includes all of the limitations of Claim 7 of the '902 patent.
27 The AirSense 10 is configured to supply a stream of gases to a patient. It 28 includes a gases supply, a tube configured to connect to the gases supply and to 1 deliver the stream of gases to the patient, and a heater wire extending through a 2 length of the tube. An electrical circuit connected to the wire includes a 3 thermistor, and current flows through the thermistor and wire to a controller.

4 Based on the current, the controller can determine at least the temperature of the 5 gases and can adjust for patient comfort or therapeutic setting. The thermistor is 6 positioned within the stream of gases. An overmolding encloses part of the 7 electrical circuit and extends into the middle of the tube.

8 77. ResMed is aware of the '902 patent, at least in part through written 9 communications from Fisher & Paykel Healthcare on or about February 22,
10 2016 notifying ResMed of its infringement of this patent.

11 78. Upon information and belief, ResMed has actively induced others
12 to infringe the '902 patent. ResMed's acts constitute infringement of the 13 '902 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(b).

14 79. Upon information and belief, ResMed actively induces health-care
15 service providers and users to directly infringe the asserted claims of the '902
16 patent. By way of example only, upon information and belief, ResMed actively 17 induces direct infringement of the '902 patent by providing directions,
18 demonstrations, guides, manuals, training for use, and/or other materials
19 necessary for the use, refurbishing, and/or servicing of the S10 CPAP,
20 AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products.

21 80. Upon information and belief, ResMed knew or should have known
22 that these activities would cause direct infringement.

23 81. Upon information and belief, ResMed's acts constitute contributory
24 infringement of the '902 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(c). Upon 25 information and belief, ResMed contributorily infringes because, among other 26 things, ResMed offers to sell and/or sells within the United States, and/or 27 imports into the United States, components of the S S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, 28 and ClimateLineAir products that constitute material parts of the invention of 1 the asserted claims of the '902 patent, are not staple articles or commodities of 2 commerce suitable for substantial non-infringing use, and are known by

3 ResMed to be especially made or especially adapted for use in an infringement
4 of the '902 patent.

5 82. Upon further information and belief, such components are used by 6 ResMed in connection with the refurbishing, servicing and/or use of infringing
7 S10 CPAP, AirCurve 10, and ClimateLineAir products in the United States, 8 thereby constituting direct infringement of the asserted claims of the '902 9 patent.

10 83. Upon information and belief, ResMed's infringement of the '902
11 patent has been, and continues to be, willful, deliberate, and intentional by 12 continuing its acts of infringement after becoming aware of the '902 patent and 13 its infringement thereof, thus acting in reckless disregard of Fisher & Paykel
14 Healthcare's patent rights.

15 84. As a consequence of ResMed's patent infringement of the '902
16 patent, Fisher & Paykel Healthcare has suffered and will continue to suffer 17 irreparable harm and injury, including monetary damages in an amount to be 18 determined at trial.

19 85. Upon information and belief, unless enjoined, ResMed, and/or 20 others acting on behalf of ResMed, will continue their infringing acts, thereby
21 causing additional irreparable injury to Fisher & Paykel Healthcare for which 22 there is no adequate remedy at law.

23 SIXTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

24 (Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,550,072)

25 86. Fisher & Paykel Healthcare realleges and reincorporates the 26 allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 85.

27 ///

28 ///

1 87. Upon information and belief, ResMed products, including at least 2 the S10 CPAP and AirCurve 10 products, infringe at least Claims 6, 12, and 13
3 of the '072 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), (b), or (c).

4 88. Upon information and belief, ResMed has directly infringed the 5 asserted claims of the '072 patent through the manufacture, use, sale, offer for 6 sale, and/or importation into the United States of the S10 CPAP and AirCurve
7 10 products.

8 89. For example, upon information and belief, the AirSense 10 includes 9 all of the limitations of Claim 6 of the '072 patent. The AirSense 10 is an 10 apparatus for use in humidified gases delivery treatment. It includes a blower 11 for generating a supply of pressurised gases. It includes a pressurised gases 12 outlet in fluid connection with the pressurised gases supply and adapted to make 13 a separate fluid connection with an inlet of a water chamber to provide gases 14 flow to the chamber. It includes a humidified gases return adapted to make a 15 separate fluid connection with an outlet of the water chamber in order to receive 16 humidified gases from the water chamber, and it is adjacent to and aligned with 17 the pressurised gases outlet. These two fluid connections are made by a single 18 motion. The AirSense 10 also includes a patient outlet in fluid connection with 19 the humidified gases return to receive humidified gases from the humidified 20 gases return and to provide humidified gases to the patient outlet. This patient 21 outlet is in fluid connection with or adapted to make fluid connection with a 22 breathing conduct for delivery of humidified gases to a patient.

23 90. ResMed is aware of the '072 patent, at least in part through written 24 communications from Fisher & Paykel Healthcare on or about October 1, 2015
25 notifying ResMed of its infringement of this patent.

26 91. Upon information and belief, ResMed has actively induced others
27 to infringe the '072 patent. ResMed's acts constitute infringement of the 28 '072 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(b).

1 92. Upon information and belief, ResMed actively induces health-care
2 service providers and users to directly infringe the asserted claims of the 3 '072 patent. By way of example only, upon information and belief, ResMed 4 actively induces direct infringement of the '072 patent by providing directions,
5 demonstrations, guides, manuals, training for use, and/or other materials
6 necessary for the use, refurbishing, and/or servicing of S10 CPAP and AirCurve
7 10 products.

8 93. Upon information and belief, ResMed knew or should have known
9 that these activities would cause direct infringement.

10 94. Upon information and belief, ResMed's acts constitute contributory
11 infringement of the '072 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(c). Upon 12 information and belief, ResMed contributorily infringes because, among other
13 things, ResMed offers to sell and/or sells within the United States, and/or 14 imports into the United States, components of S10 CPAP and AirCurve 10 15 products that constitute material parts of the invention of the asserted claims of 16 the '072 patent, are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for 17 substantial non-infringing use, and are known by ResMed to be especially made 18 or especially adapted for use in an infringement of the '072 patent.

19 95. Upon further information and belief, such components are used by 20 ResMed in connection with the refurbishing, servicing and/or use of infringing
21 S10 CPAP and AirCurve 10 products in the United States, thereby constituting 22 direct infringement of the asserted claims of the '072 patent.

23 96. Upon information and belief, ResMed's infringement of the '072
24 patent has been, and continues to be, willful, deliberate, and intentional by 25 continuing its acts of infringement after becoming aware of the '072 patent and
26 its infringement thereof, thus acting in reckless disregard of Fisher & Paykel
27 Healthcare's patent rights.

28 ///

1 97. As a consequence of ResMed's patent infringement of the '072
2 patent, Fisher & Paykel Healthcare has suffered and will continue to suffer 3 irreparable harm and injury, including monetary damages in an amount to be 4 determined at trial.

5 98. Upon information and belief, unless enjoined, ResMed, and/or 6 others acting on behalf of ResMed, will continue their infringing acts, thereby
7 causing additional irreparable injury to Fisher & Paykel Healthcare for which 8 there is no adequate remedy at law.

9 SEVENTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

10 (Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 8,091,547)

11 99. Fisher & Paykel Healthcare realleges and reincorporates the 12 allegations set forth in paragraphs 1 through 98.

13 100. Upon information and belief, ResMed products, including at least 14 the S10 CPAP and AirCurve 10 products, infringe at least Claims 24 and 25 of 15 the '547 patent under 35 U.S.C. § 271(a), (b), or (c).

16 101. Upon information and belief, ResMed has directly infringed the 17 asserted claims of the '547 patent through the manufacture, use, sale, offer for 18 sale, and/or importation into the United States of the S10 CPAP and AirCurve
19 10 products.

20 102. For example, upon information and belief, the AirSense 10 includes 21 all of the limitations of Claim 24 of the '547 patent. The AirSense 10 is a gas 22 humidification apparatus. It includes a humidification chamber with a base. It 23 has a housing with a source gases outlet adapted to make a separable fluid 24 connection with an inlet of the humidification chamber in order to provide gases 25 flow into the humidification chamber. The housing also has a humidified gases 26 inlet adapted to make a separable fluid connection with an outlet of the 27 humidification chamber in order to receive humidified gases from the 28 humidification chamber. The humidified gases outlet is in fluid communication

1 with the humidified gases inlet and is adapted to make fluid connection with a 2 breathing conduit for delivery of humidified gases to a patient. The housing 3 also includes a heater configured to vaporize liquid water in the humidification 4 chamber to provide water vapor to gases flowing through the humidification 5 chamber. The housing is adapted to accommodate the humidification chamber, 6 which is removable and engageable with the housing via a single motion. The 7 single motion of engagement disposes the base of the humidification chamber 8 adjacent the heater. The single motion also makes or breaks the separable 9 connection between the source gases outlet and the humidification chamber inlet 10 and the separable connection between the humidified gases inlet and the 11 humidification chamber outlet.

12 103. ResMed is aware of the '547 patent, at least in part through written
13 communications from Fisher & Paykel Healthcare on or about October 1, 2015
14 notifying ResMed of its infringement of this patent.

15 104. Upon information and belief, ResMed has actively induced others 16 to infringe the '547 patent. ResMed's acts constitute infringement of the 17 '547 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(b).

18 105. Upon information and belief, ResMed actively induces health-care 19 service providers and users to directly infringe the asserted claims of the 20 '547 patent. By way of example only, upon information and belief, ResMed
21 actively induces direct infringement of the '547 patent by providing directions,
22 demonstrations, guides, manuals, training for use, and/or other materials
23 necessary for the use, refurbishing, and/or servicing of S10 CPAP and AirCurve
24 10 products.

25 106. Upon information and belief, ResMed knew or should have known
26 that these activities would cause direct infringement.

27 107. Upon information and belief, ResMed's acts constitute contributory
28 infringement of the '547 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(c). Upon

1 information and belief, ResMed contributorily infringes because, among other 2 things, ResMed offers to sell and/or sells within the United States, and/or 3 imports into the United States, components of S10 CPAP and AirCurve 10 4 products that constitute material parts of the invention of the asserted claims of 5 the '547 patent, are not staple articles or commodities of commerce suitable for 6 substantial non-infringing use, and are known by ResMed to be especially made 7 or especially adapted for use in an infringement of the '547 patent.

8 108. Upon further information and belief, such components are used by 9 ResMed in connection with the refurbishing, servicing and/or use of infringing
10 S10 CPAP and AirCurve 10 products in the United States, thereby constituting 11 direct infringement of the asserted claims of the '547 patent.

12 109. Upon information and belief, ResMed's infringement of the 13 '547 patent has been, and continues to be, willful, deliberate, and intentional by 14 continuing its acts of infringement after becoming aware of the '547 patent and 15 its infringement thereof, thus acting in reckless disregard of Fisher & Paykel
16 Healthcare's patent rights.

17 110. As a consequence of ResMed's patent infringement of the 18 '547 patent, Fisher & Paykel Healthcare has suffered and will continue to suffer 19 irreparable harm and injury, including monetary damages in an amount to be 20 determined at trial.

21 111. Upon information and belief, unless enjoined, ResMed, and/or 22 others acting on behalf of ResMed, will continue their infringing acts, thereby
23 causing additional irreparable injury to Fisher & Paykel Healthcare for which 24 there is no adequate remedy at law.

25 EIGHTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF

26 (Infringement of U.S. Patent No. 7,111,624)

7 10 products.

8 115. ResMed is aware of the '624 patent, at least in part through written
9 communications from Fisher & Paykel Healthcare on or about October 1, 2015
10 notifying ResMed of its infringement of this patent.

11 116. For example, upon information and belief, the AirSense 10 includes 12 all of the limitations of Claim 1 of the '624 patent. The AirSense 10 is an 13 apparatus for use in humidified gases delivery treatment. It has a housing that 14 has a pressurised gases supply within it. A pressurised gases outlet in the 15 housing is in fluid connection with the pressurised gases supply and is adapted 16 to make fluid connection with an inlet of a humidifier in order to provide gases 17 flow to the humidifier. A humidified gases return in the housing is adapted to 18 make fluid connection with an outlet of the humidifier in order to receive 19 humidified gases from the humidifier. A patient outlet in the housing is in fluid 20 connection with the humidified gases return in order to receive humidified gases 21 and to provide humidified gases to the patient outlet. The patient outlet is in 22 fluid communication with or adapted to make fluid connection with a breathing 23 conduit for delivery of humidified gases to a patient.

24 117. Upon information and belief, ResMed has actively induced others

4 necessary for the use, refurbishing, and/or servicing of S10 CPAP and AirCurve
5 10 products.

6 119. Upon information and belief, ResMed knew or should have known
7 that these activities would cause direct infringement.

8 120. Upon information and belief, ResMed's acts constitute contributory
9 infringement of the '624 patent in violation of 35 U.S.C. § 271(c). Upon
10 information and belief, ResMed contributorily infringes because, among other
11 things, ResMed offers to sell and/or sells within the United States, and/or 12 imports into the United States, components of S10 CPAP and AirCurve 10 13 products that constitute material parts of the invention of the asserted claims of

15 substantial non-infringing use, and are known by ResMed to be especially made 16 or especially adapted for use in an infringement of the '624 patent.

17 121. Upon further information and belief, such components are used by 18 ResMed in connection with the refurbishing, servicing and/or use of infringing
19 S10 CPAP and AirCurve 10 products in the United States, thereby constituting 20 direct infringement of the asserted claims of the '624 patent.

21 122. Upon information and belief, ResMed's infringement of the 22 '624 patent has been, and continues to be, willful, deliberate, and intentional by 23 continuing its acts of infringement after becoming aware of the '624 patent and

18 128. For example, upon information and belief, the AirSense 10 includes 19 all of the limitations of Claim 1 of the '197 patent. It includes a water chamber 20 adapted for use in conjunction with a heater base. The water chamber has a 21 horizontally oriented gases inlet in a wall. There is an elongate flow tube 22 extending into the water chamber from the inner periphery of the gases inlet, 23 and an inlet end of the elongate flow tube covering the inlet. An outlet end of 24 the elongate flow tube is spaced from the wall of the water chamber. In use, the 25 elongate flow tube receives at the inlet end gases supplied to the gases inlet.
26 The gases pass through the elongate flow tube and exit the flow tube at the 27 outlet end distant from the wall.

1 129. ResMed is aware of the '197 patent, at least in part through written
2 communications from Fisher & Paykel Healthcare on or about October 1, 2015
3 notifying ResMed of its infringement of this patent.

7 131. Upon information and belief, ResMed actively induces health-care 8 service providers and users to directly infringe the asserted claims of the 9 '197 patent. By way of example only, upon information and belief, ResMed 10 actively induces direct infringement of the '197 patent by providing directions,
