

ABOUT US

INSPIRING NEW APPROACHES

At Halozyme, we are focused on innovative and disruptive solutions that provide new therapeutic options that could significantly improve the patient experience. We also support our partners with our drug delivery technologies that could significantly streamline treatment protocols for emerging and established therapies, with the potential to offer patients the valuable benefit of convenience and time.

The patient experience is at the center of everything we do.

OUR FOCUS

Technology Platforms

Our commercially validated ENHANZE[®] drug delivery technology, based on our proprietary enzyme rHuPH20, is used to facilitate the subcutaneous (SC) delivery of injected drugs and fluids. When co-formulated with other drugs, ENHANZE[®] has the potential to reduce treatment burden for patients, including potentially reducing treatment administration from hours-long IV infusions to subcutaneous injections delivered in minutes.

We have expanded our technology platform offering by adding a range of auto-injectors designed for subcutaneous and intramuscular use. With more than 30 years of experience in auto-injector device development and engineering, our internal development team specializes in creating custom designed drug delivery devices that address patient and therapeutic needs.

Commercial Products

In addition, we market and commercialize two FDA-approved products featuring our unique and proprietary development and delivery technologies.

- HYLENEX[®] recombinant (hyaluronidase human injection)

- XVOSTED[®] CIII (testosterone enanthate)
