

Lexus LS 600h

With white light emitting diodes rapidly becoming more efficient, Koito developed the first automotive headlamp with LED low beams. Offering improved photometric performance and efficient heat dissipation, it debuted on the 2007 Lexus LS 600h—the world's first production automobile equipped with LED headlamps.

